Item 8.01 Other Events

GSRX Industries Inc. (the “Company”) will be relying on the Securities and Exchange Commission’s Order under Section 36 of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 Modifying Exemptions From Reporting and Proxy Delivery Requirements for Public Companies dated March 25, 2020 (Release No. 34-88465) to delay the filing of its Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q for the quarter ended March 31, 2020 (the “Report”) due to circumstances related to coronavirus, or COVID-19. The Company’s principal operating and manufacturing facilities are located in the United States and most of its employees are residents of the United States. The United States has been severely impacted by COVID-19 outbreak, resulting in authorities implementing numerous measures to try to contain the virus, such as travel bans and restrictions, quarantines, shelter in place orders, and shutdowns. In particular, our office staff members responsible for preparing and providing supporting materials and information in preparation of the Report are located in the United States, and COVID-19 and the resulting government measures have caused disruptions in the Company’s normal interactions with among such persons. Because of the United States government-mandated quarantine, the Company’s staff are now working remotely and creating unforeseen inefficiencies, leading to a significant delay in the Company’s ability to prepare and review the Company’s financial statements for the quarter ended March 31, 2020 necessary for filing of the Report. The Company expects to file the Report no later than June 29, 2020 (which is 45 days from the Report’s original filing deadline of May 15, 2020).

In light of the current COVID-19 pandemic, the Company will be including the following Risk Factor in its Report, as may be updated to reflect subsequent events impacting the Company:

The recent coronavirus outbreak may adversely affect our business.

In December 2019, a strain of coronavirus was reported to have surfaced in Wuhan, China, and has reached multiple other countries, resulting in government-imposed quarantines, travel restrictions and other public health safety measures in China, the U.S., Italy, Israel and other affected countries. The continued outbreak and spreading of the coronavirus has and may continue to adversely impact our business, as our operations are based in the United States which has been severely affected by the outbreak. The various precautionary measures taken by many governmental authorities around the world in order to limit the spread of the coronavirus has had and may continue to have an adverse effect on the global markets and global economy, including on the availability and pricing of employees, resources, materials, manufacturing and delivery efforts and other aspects of the global economy. The financial downturn has compelled us to furlough or reduce working hours for much of our operating staff, as well as third-party contractors, and our clients may encounter cash-flow issues that will delay their payments to us. We also rely on third-party professionals to provide services such as the preparation of our financial statements and to conduct audits, and many of these parties have been affected by government-imposed precautionary measures, thereby delaying our receipt of these services. Therefore, the coronavirus has and could continue to disrupt production and cause delays in the supply and delivery of our products, may continue to affect our operation and disrupt the marketplace in which we operate and may have a material adverse effect on our operations. The extent to which the coronavirus impacts our results will depend on future developments, which are highly uncertain and cannot be predicted, including new information which may emerge concerning the severity of the coronavirus and the actions to contain the coronavirus or treat its impact, among others. The development of the coronavirus outbreak could materially disrupt our business and operations, hamper our ability to raise additional funds or sell our securities, continue to slow down the overall economy, curtail consumer spending, interrupt our sources of supply, and make it hard to adequately staff our operations.
